Important facts to know if you are missing teeth, that your dentist may not have told you...

If you are missing one or more teeth, you are not alone. Statistics show that at least 69% of adults have lost at least one tooth to an accident, gum disease, a failed root canal or tooth decay. About 20% wear some type of removable denture and experience no problems. However, the majority have problems.

Whether it's difficulty with speech, the embarrassment of loose dentures, pain upon chewing or the loss of taste, for many living with missing teeth has just made their lives harder and less enjoyable. This can affect your health and even life span. For years, traditional dentistry's answers to replacing missing teeth were bridges and removable dentures, however each of these has its own set of problems.

More recently, modern technology has offered us more options for tooth replacement, many incorporating dental implants. There are flippers, bridges, implants, implant anchored dentures, mini implants, fixed bridges, fixed hybrid dentures, etc., etc. With so many options available today how does one know where to go, who to trust or what to choose?

Here's the Good News

Dr. Matt Larsen, general dentist, recognized the frustration and confusion of the many people who suffer with wearing traditional dentures. This led him to offer free informational seminars to educate the community about all of the tooth replacement options available, as well as the advantages and disadvantages of each, so that people could make an informed and educated decision for themselves and for their loved ones.

Dr. Larsen has over 16 years of experience, and he will personally answer any questions you may have, all at absolutely no obligation to you. Find out how dental implants can give you a complete smile do-over, with teeth that look, feel and function like your own.
